Q: Customizing Magento backend to support different sorting on homepage I have a Magento 1.9.1 store which consists of two groups of products. Group A is expected to be alphabetically sorted on the homepage (if I could change the way the catalog chooses the items to display, sorting would be always alphabetical), whereas Group B to be sorted by price (from most expensive to least expensive). This is because the products are part of two different lists, and in a specific range, one needs to be in the top group and the other in the bottom group. Is it possible to customize these sorting choices? If so, how? A: It's possible to change this sorting in catalog_controller_product_view and catalog_controller_category_view actions. You should check current sorting and pass new sort depending on your requirements. Look for these action and maybe something like this could help you: `$this->getResponse()->setBody($this->getLayout()->createBlock('Magento\Framework\View/Layout')->setTemplate('YOUR_TEMPLATE.phtml')->toHtml());` [Detection of K-ras mutations in the blood of lung cancer patients--value and limitations of blood samples].
